

Walking my path is a divine opportunity to create change in the world.

To the Mother of the Universe, you are pure and perfect and whole, and fully deserving of all of her love. You exist, and you are her child, and she will guide you now, and embrace you with her loving heart energy. Your own heart will open and respond in return, and judgements will fall away, to be replaced with compassion, understanding and the true belief in your own worth.

You are worthy of this compassionate mother love. Let her heal all mother wounds and show you how precious you are.

Know you are being guided to become light in order for your soul to travel to a place of peace, and of great teaching and discovery, of soulful intellect and spirited intelligence.

Rise and free yourself from what has held you back — nurture your belief in the marvellous, in your desire to learn and in the repeated and peaceful liberation of your soul. Fly now, friend, and learn of all that is pure and true again.

I have the freedom to learn and to discover. My soul thrives on adventure.